Transland is excited to announce the purchase of the SATLOC® aerial guidance and flow control business from AgJunction Inc. The sale includes all SATLOC® assets and the SATLOC® brand name. Transland will also take over the relationships with the SATLOC® independent dealer network.

The addition of SATLOC® represents Transland's continued commitment to expand its presence in the aerial agriculture dispersing market. "We are not only excited about the industry-leading products that SATLOC® brings to the table, but the strong dealer network and very knowledgeable employees that will be added to our company." said Transland CEO & Owner James Frank. "It is our goal and commitment to invest the time, money and resources necessary to ensure that SATLOC® products remain the industry leader in the advancement of GPS and flow control systems for aerial application."

FAQ's

Employees – We are happy to announce that Mike Thurman, Mitch Brown and Ian McVey have all agreed to join the Transland team.

Dealers – We anticipate maintaining the same dealer network unchanged for approximately one year after closing. We are committed to supporting every dealer with quality on-time delivery and customer support during this transition.

Customers – As a customer, please continue to visit your current SATLOC® dealer for all your SATLOC® needs. The SATLOC® channel of communications, including customer support, sales, and website, will remain unchanged for the time being.
