Aircraft Maintenance Engineer or Apprentice

Yorkton Aircraft Service Ltd.

Yorkton Aircraft Service Ltd, located at Hangar #2, Yorkton Airport in Yorkton, Saskatchewan requires a full time, permanent AME (1) or experienced apprentice.

We are an AMO specializing in Agricultural spray aircraft. Our TC approvals include aircraft, avionics, structures, and welding.

Experience in Agriculture aircraft a plus but we will provide training. Strong English skills are a must.

This is a service--based AMO with a unique business model. We do not have our own commercial fleet and we don't maintain King Airs or Lear Jets. Instead, you get to work with tough working, rugged crop spraying planes and fun to fly general aviation planes. We import new and used planes into Canada as well. Your satisfaction comes with helping numerous pilots and operators stay in the air and build their business. This is a dynamic work environment; your work week will change frequently.

Qualifications: college diploma or completed apprenticeship, resulting in obtaining an AME license; high value placed on team work and safety; ability to maintain a high level of professionalism at all times; understand and deliver on the high customer standards expected of this AMO.

Duties: Instruct apprentices and helpers; maintain PT6, Walter/GE engines; some radial and flat engine work; airframe, structural, fiberglass, fabric repair and painting; installing and servicing GPS / radio systems. Work closely with the DOM and the Service Director to plan and effectively achieve work goals.

We are a growing company specializing in agriculture aircraft maintenance and product support; we deal with clients across Canada and many suppliers in Canada, USA and abroad. We take our role in supporting our customers very seriously but we have fun doing it. We are a close-knit business, operating like a family.

The City of Yorkton offers affordable housing and a small city environment to raise a family. Agriculture is growing and is fast becoming one of aviation's bright spots. If you were born and raised on a farm or have agriculture roots somewhere, this position will bring you an interesting perspective to Ag and provide unique job satisfaction opportunities.
